

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to inform those interested that Invitae Corporation's Sample Collection Kit (379321) is composed of a corrugated box containing a saliva collection tube. It is used for transporting a saliva sample from a patient back to Invitae Corporation for genetic testing.

The only other components inside are a leak-proof plastic zip lock bag, an absorbent cloth, a piece of paper the patient's physician has filled out, two small barcode stickers, a return shipping label, and a FedEx Clinical Lab Pack. The sample and collection kit are sent via the FedEx Clinical Pak envelope back to Invitae Corporation.

Therapak Corporation (address provided below), is the manufacturer, supplier and distributor for the Invitae sample collection kit. Universal precautions are taken into consideration for saliva samples and are included with the sample collection kit.

Please feel free to contact us with any further questions.
